DIES AS RESULT OF INJURY HERE

Veteran who Tripped at Gettysburg Station Dies in Harrisburg Hospital Another Veteran Dies on his Way Home.

Dr. David Stewart, a dentist of Sharon, died at the Harrisburg hospital Wednesday night from heart trouble. He was a veteran of the Civil War and attended the fiftieth anniversary reunion at Gettysburg last week. At the railroad station here on July 4, where he was preparing to leave for his home, he fell on the tracks, fracturing his right hip. He was taken to the Harrisburg hospital on that day.

His condition grew steadily worse until Wednesday evening when his heart became weak. He explained that he intended to give up his practice when he returned home and take life easy.

Dr. Stewart was a member of the Army of the Potomac and served throughout the Virginia campaign and at Gettysburg throughout the entire three days' battle. He was a member of the Grand Army and Post Commander at Sharon for six years.

The State of Washington special train taking home the State's quota of veterans from the Gettysburg reunion reached Tacoma Wednesday night with the body of Colonel C. S. Rugg, who died en route. Colonel Rugg claimed to have fired the first shot on the historic field. Colonel Rugg spent twenty-six months in Andersonville prison.

Loss of life among the veterans of the Civil War was less during the week in which the old soldiers were gathered by the thousands in camp at the recent Gettysburg celebration than it would have been in their own homes, according to official figures furnished by Secretary Garrison. As a result the Secretary of War sent letters of commendation and appreciation to the officers whose work in laying out, policing and attending to the comfort of the old soldiers made such a result possible.

Mr. Garrison compared the record with the grim figures resulting from the establishment of concentration camps in the Spanish-American war and declared the United States army had made long strides in the science of camp sanitation and management.

The officers to whom official commendations were dispatched were Brigadier General Hunter Liggett, in charge; Major James E. Normoyle, in charge of equipment and rations and Lieutenant Colonel A. E. Bradley, of the Medical Corps, who looked after sanitation and the hospitals. Similar letters also were sent to E. S. Martin, who directed the police work of the District of Columbia Boy Scouts, and to Major John C. Groome, of the Pennsylvania State Police, who maintained order in and about Gettysburg.

The letter of Secretary Garrison to Major Groome is as follows:

Washington, July 9, 1913
Sir: I desire to express to you my appreciation of the very efficient and valuable service rendered by the Pennsylvania State Constabulary at Gettysburg during the recent encampment of Civil War veterans. The appearance and conduct of the constabulary was highly creditable, and indicates a high state of instruction and discipline.

Very respectfully,
LINDLEY M. GARRISON,
Secretary of War.

PROMISES WELL

Mrs. Evelyn Gurley-Kane's Recital should Prove an Attraction.

Mrs. Evelyn Gurley-Kane's recital of "Ben Hur" in Brax Chapel Saturday evening should prove to be an entertainment of no little merit. In addition to an attractive personality, Mrs. Kane is exceptionally well recommended. Before taking up her residence in Washington she had charge of the School of Expression and Dramatic Art in Bush Temple, Chicago, where she met with unqualified success. Mrs. Kane's large contingent of personal friends includes many of the army officers at present encamped here; and they, as well as several motor parties of friends in Congress, who will come here from Washington, are expecting to hear her on Saturday evening.

MANY CASES UP FOR HEARINGS

Assault and Battery Matters. Two Hotel Cases. First Action for Soliciting Contrary to Provisions of Recent Ordinance.

Thursday evening about eight o'clock Mrs. William Zineand, while attending to her duties about the house, was roughly assaulted by a man who gave his name as David Sauerbeer. The fellow evidently had been drinking and was very rough and profane when taken in charge by Chief of Police Shealer. He was given a hearing before Squire Harnish and held for Court.

Otto Mitchell was arrested Thursday evening for assault and battery on John Goins, but as yet has not had a hearing. Both men are colored.

This morning Chief Shealer arrested a man, who gives his name as William Jones, for drunken and disorderly conduct. The fellow claims South Dakota as his home but was en route to Baltimore. He had just purchased a ticket for that point shortly before his arrest.

J. A. Myrick was arrested Thursday on a charge of violating the recently enacted ordinance prohibiting soliciting more than two feet from the curb.

Ham and McConomy, charged with maintaining a nuisance last week in the shape of kegs and cases of bottles on the pavement at the side of the Eagle Hotel, settled the case before Squire Harnish Thursday afternoon, subject to approval by the Court, by paying a fine of $10 and costs of $6.75.

A. H. B. Ring will be given a hearing before Squire Harnish next Tuesday on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday.

CHAUTAUQUA ON THE PREP CAMPUS

Board of Managers Makes that Decision [at Meeting to Complete Arrangements for Summer Attraction. Auto Advertising Parade.

The board of managers of the Gettysburg Chautauqua, at a meeting Thursday evening, decided to have the tent located this year at the same place as in 1912—on the Prep Campus.

Three considerations prompted this action. The college allows the use of this ground free of any cost, it is about as quiet and free from annoyance by outside noises as any place in town, and it is convenient for the members of the Lutheran Summer Assembly who hold their sessions at the same time, and most of whom purchase tickets for the Chautauqua. The event this year will occur August 1 to 7.

The first advertising car of the Chautauqua arrived here on Thursday and spent the day about town putting up banners and posters, distributing illustrated booklets and programs, and otherwise starting with a rush the publicity end of the program. The crew with the car consists of men from Swarthmore, the University of Pennsylvania and Gettysburg. Mr. Harbaugh, of Gettysburg College, is at the wheel and acts as special secretary of the crew. After spending a busy day here they proceeded to Westminster and Rockville for similar work.

On July 16 and 17 a special agent of the Chautauqua will be here and on the afternoon of the first day will tour the county with a party of Gettysburg citizens in automobiles, carrying banners advertising Chautauqua week. In some places as many as forty eight automobile owners allow the use of their cars for this purpose and an imposing parade passes through the various towns of the county with banners streaming. As many Gettysburg owners as possible are desired for the parade here.

A week following this display the second advertising car will be here and one week later on Friday afternoon, August 1, the Chautauqua will open with a concert by the Florentine Band. A second concert will be held in the evening and from that on a week of good things will be provided the people of Gettysburg and the surrounding county.

The program includes among other delightful entertainments a lecture by Frank Dixon, a concert by the Broadbeck-Such Concert Company, a popular science demonstration by Leon Welbourne, an afternoon of magic, Rosani the Juggler, lectures by Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the Juvenile Courts of Denver, and William T. Ellis, the traveler journalist. The Commonwealth Male Quartet will give a concert during the week and Wm. Sterling Battis will give his famous impersonations of Dickens' characters.

These are the principal features of the Chautauqua. A Junior Chautauqua to be held in the mornings will prove a big attraction for the children of town. Miss Grace Sachs, Miss Blanche Stoops and Miss Rachel Scott were named a committee Thursday evening to explain this feature to the people of town, and Prof. Charles F. Sanders was authorized to engage canvassers to sell tickets and have pledges redeemed for the regular Chautauqua Assembly to be held afternoons and evenings.

This week Daniel Hankey, of near York Springs, came to town driving a horse which wore the harness which was used at the time of the battle to take Mr. Hankey's parents and other members of the family away from the scene of the fighting. The harness had large buckles and excited a great deal of interest here. Considering its age, it was very well preserved.

GETTYSBURG BITE

Blame Gettysburg for Painful and Annoying Bites.

The Chambersburg Repository says: "Have you had a Gettysburg bite? That is the latest around here and it is not as much of a joke as it might seem at first blush. Chambersburg doctors have been called upon this week to treat what appeared to be bites or great mosquito bites or in some instances small boils. Nearly all were on the legs, or ankles, of the patients and one local physician, amazed at the size and virulence of several on his legs got to figuring as to what the swellings might be. He compared notes with brother doctors and the decision arrived at was that these were insect bites of some sort but not mosquito punctures.

"Then developed a new phase. After inquiry it was found that every last sufferer had visited Gettysburg last week during the encampment and reunion. This brought things nearer to a solution and when the physicians found that every patient had been out of the motor car or other conveyance and had been walking about the Battlefield and added to this that others who had been there but had not gotten out of the auto escaped, it established the almost certain fact that some insect, maybe a tick, had been biting the visitors and had nipped about as many ladies as he had men and children.

"In some cases the bites became very sore, broke open, itched dreadfully and caused much discomfort. In other cases the bitee thought an unusually vicious old mosquito had stung him. After reading this many more instances all over the State are bound to come to light, unless results from the bites are different in other localities than the outcome here has been."

JURY EXONERATES GIRL'S LOVER

Not Declares Murder Was Committed at Harvey's Lake.

LETTERS GIVE NEW LIGHT

Father Admits He Once Held Shotgun to Head of Girl to Enforce Good Behavior.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 11.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Alice Crispell, whose body was found floating in Harvey's lake on Monday, exonerated Herbert Johns, the girl's lover.

The jury declared that murder was committed and that the culprit was still at large.

During the inquest the only time Johns showed signs of nervousness was when the dead girl's dress was displayed to the jury.

Alice's silk glove was found in the grass on the lake shore, ear where her body was recovered. One button was torn from the glove and a finger was ripped open.

The authorities admit the possibility that the girl may have been carrying one glove in her hand and dropped it before falling or leaping into the water, and they acknowledge that it would not have been strange if the glove had been in the damaged condition in which it was found.

But, taking the discovery of the glove in conjunction with the other facts ascertained in the case, they believe it strengthens their suspicion that the girl died only after a struggle, whether with Herbert Johns, her sweetheart, who is under arrest, or another, they are not prepared to say.

The discovery of the correspondence of Herbert Johns and Alice Crispell seems to throw a decidedly sordid and ugly light upon their supposed love affair and to reduce it to the stage of a base infatuation.

Many of the letters cannot be printed. Johns' missives especially are revolting. They prove that he did not love Alice Crispell as an honest man would, but that he was actuated by a selfish purpose in letting her believe that he loved her and intended to marry her.

Alice Crispell, who lived at Outlet, a hamlet four miles beyond the lake, was thrown into the water, according to the police, late on the night of July 4, after she had been on an outing with Johns, her sister and five other friends. Her absence from home did not occasion any alarm, but the recovery of the body has given the county authorities and the state police the greatest mystery they have had to solve for many years.

Johns, who is a "footman" in a mine near Wilkes-Barre, is being held as the principal in the alleged murder, but the police say they are not satisfied that he killed the girl and are trying to ascertain whether a jealous rival of Johns may have thrown her into the lake. Johns will be given a hearing before Alderman Frank B. Brown.

In one of Alice's letters she told Johns that her father had struck her in the eyes because she remained away from home at night. Crispell denied that assertion. He admitted, however, that he had pointed a shotgun at Alice and threatened to shoot her, but he told Detective McKelvey, to whom he made the admission, that the gun was not loaded.

Both Alice and Johns had written to each other that they intended to end their "troubles" by jumping into the lake or by some other method of suicide.

Johns' missives show that he had been in Alice's company many nights, and hotel registers in Wilkes-Barre and vicinity show, according to Detective McKelvey, that the couple had registered as husband and wife.

These revelations, coming on the eve of the coroner's inquest and the funeral of Alice, have sent a thrill of horror throughout Luzerne county and have caused many who clung to the murder theory to discredit it and to believe that Alice committed suicide by drowning herself in the lake while she was under the influence of liquor.

Alice's funeral was the most elaborate seen in the mountain section of her home in many years. She was dressed in a white satin gown and her hands clasped a few white roses. She wore a small ring that Johns had given her. The white satin-lined casket was surrounded by a number of floral pieces. One did not bear the name of the donor, and the impression was created among the mourners that Johns had sent it to the house through his relatives.

Farmers living within a radius of twenty-five miles from Outlet stopped work to attend the funeral. The pallbearers were six young men who had been Alice's playmates when she wore short dresses. The interment was in Lehman's Center cemetery, about ten miles from Outlet, and the body was buried near a tree that was struck by lightning many years ago and left the shattered trunk outlined as a crude gallows. Two clergymen conducted the services.

ASTOR TO HONOR FATHER'S MEMORY

Son of Titanic Victim to Build Home For Children.

New York, July 11.—Vincent Astor, elder son and chief heir of John Jacob Astor, will build a children's home at Rhinebeck, this state, as a memorial to his father, who went down with the Titanic.

It was learned that Mr. Astor had purchased a tract of land in the heart of the village of Rhinebeck, with which his father was so long associated because of the nearness of the Astor estate, and here will erect a handsome structure which will house 100 delicate boys and girls at a time.

The place will be known as the John Jacob Astor Children's Convalescent Home. It will be the successor to a small institution, the founders of which were Miss Mary Morton, a daughter of Levi P. Morton, and other members of the colony around Rhinebeck and Rhinecliff.

This is a building which houses only about thirty children at a time. It was originally the old Hutton homestead, and was bought by Miss Morton and the others and managed by them up to the present time. The youngsters come from hospitals, day nurseries and charitable institutions in New York city.

Mr. Astor, it is understood, will manage the new home himself, retaining the present staff of helpers. Miss Lynch, the head nurse, has been in charge almost as long as there has been a convalescent home.

Many of the children are cripples. Unlike the "fresh air philanthropies," the afflicted little ones are kept not just two weeks, but as long as they need the bracing air the hills of Rhinecliff afford. Most of the beneficiaries are from six to twelve years old.

FINDS COUNTERFEITERS' DEN

Agent Also Arrests Two Suspects in Bogus old Piece Case.

Lewistown, Pa., July 11.—Twenty-four hours after he was assigned to trace the source of counterfeit $5 and $10 gold pieces which had been circulated here, Fred M. Tate, a secret service agent of Philadelphia, located the counterfeiters' plant, arrested two men on the charge of making and passing the bogus money and confiscating a counterfeit outfit.

The alleged counterfeiting plant was found back of Pine Top, a village near Lewistown. The men arrested are Hugh Summers and Thomas Black, brothers-in-law, both of Pine Top.

They denied the charge. Both men are prosperous steel workers, earning good money and both owning their own homes.

The prisoners were taken to Huntington, Pa., given hearings before United States Commissioner Rudy and held under $1000 bail each for court.

The coins were made of base metal, with a plating of gold. They are pronounced good counterfeiters, but lack the weight and ring of the genuine coin.

Former Warden of Sing Sing Indicted.
White Plains, N. Y., July 11.—John S. Kennedy, former warden of Sing Sing prison, was indicted by the grand jury. The charges were not made public pending his arrest. The indictment was understood to be the result of the recent investigation of affairs at Sing Sing made by a special investigator appointed by governor Sulzer, which resulted in charges against the warden and his subsequent removal.

Swain Heads Educators.
Salt Lake City, Utah, July 11.—Joseph Swain, president of Swarthmore college, was elected president of the National Educational Association by unanimous vote here. Grace M. Shepard, state superintendent of the Idaho schools, was re-elected treasurer. Durand W. Springer, of Ann Arbor, Mich., is continued as secretary.

TARIFF BILL IN THE SENATE

Debate on Measure to Begin on Monday.

REPUBLICANS WON'T DELAY

Leaders Predict It Will Pass Before September 1—Two Rates on Print Paper.

Washington, July 11.—The Democratic tariff bill was reported to the senate this afternoon by the finance committee. This action followed a meeting of the committee held this morning.

Republican members probably will not attempt any delay. The Democrats propose to begin the debate on Monday and keep the bill continuously before the senate until it is passed. Republican leaders agree that this will probably be before Sept. 1. The majority report favoring the measure will not be reported until Monday.

Senator Smoot predicted that there would be no currency legislation until the winter session.

The provision of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill levying a duty of 12 per cent ad valorem on print paper valued at more than 2½ cents a pound and not more than 4 cents a pound, may repeal a portion of the Canadian reciprocity act of 1911, is the contention made in the analysis of the measure prepared under the direction of Senator Smoot, Republican member of the finance committee. If it does not operate to repeal the law, it is contended that there will be two rates in controversy on this grade of paper.

Besides the duty of 12 per cent ad valorem, the Democratic bill would impose a countervailing tax in retaliation for export license fee or other charge imposed by a foreign country.

"An interesting point to consider," the Smoot analysis sets forth, "is the effect of the enactment of this paragraph on the portion of the Canadian reciprocity act which admits to entry free of duty papers imported from Canada valued at not more than 4 cents a pound."

"With respect to printing paper valued at more than 2½ and not more than 4 cents a pound, it is manifest that there is a complete repugnance between the two statutes, for by the terms of one, the act of 1911, it is free of duty, and by the terms of the tariff bill it is subject to a duty of 12 per cent ad valorem. Nor can the two statutes be construed as to stand together. Under such circumstances the rule of law is that the statute of later date must prevail over the earlier statute as being the latest expression of the government will, and that consequently the earlier statute stands repealed by implication."

Republican leaders will make a point of this on the floor of the senate.

300 REBELS DROWN

State Troops Demoralized When Federals Make Unexpected Attack.

Tucson, Ariz., July 11.—A belated communication from Guaymas, in the hands of Mexican Consul Ainslie, says that 300 Constitutionalists met death in an effort to swim across the bay when the state troops were repulsed by a hidden Huerta force in their attempt to enter the California gulf port.

The message states that General Ojeda, after his retreat to the federal base, arranged an ambush to surprise the pursuing Constitutionalists and that 800 federals fell upon the state troops, who fled in disorder, leaving many dead and wounded behind.

JILTED GIRL PLAYS MAN AND WINS RIVAL

Cuts Her Hair, Dons Trousers and Wears Girl.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 11.—Dessie McIntyre, eighteen years old, was jilted two weeks ago by Harry Pendleton, a young business man, with whom she had kept company for two years.

Pendleton simply told her he had become engaged to another girl. This other girl proved to be Henrietta Aiken, of Bridgeport, Ohio, across the river from Wheeling.

Although failing to understand her request, Miss McIntyre's parents have her permission to have her hair cut off. Then she donned a suit of her brother's clothing, visited Bridgeport and through a friend met Miss Aiken.

It was a case of love at first sight on the part of the Bridgeport girl. Miss McIntyre, who was masquerading at "Lawrence Dressing," was a devoted lover, and every night found "Lawrence" at the Aiken home.

Last Sunday night while "Lawrence" and Miss Aiken were sitting on the front porch of the latter's home Pendleton appeared and demanded to know why another had usurped his place. Spurred on by her new-found suitor, Miss Aiken angrily dismissed Pendleton and ordered him never to see her again. She then confessed her love for "Lawrence."

Wednesday night Miss McIntyre, dressed in a gown of the latest mode, met Miss Aiken on Market street, in Wheeling. The recognition was mutual. Before Miss Aiken could speak Miss McIntyre gloatingly told her how she had revenge herself. In a moment the pair were at one another, and were only separated by the police. Both were discharged in court with a reprimand.

TRAINMEN "NOT INTERESTED"

Leaders Say There's "Nothing Pending in Way of Arbitration."

New York, July 11.—A. B. Garretson, head of the Order of Railway Conductors, and W. G. Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, declared that they were "not interested" in the movement by the Civic Federation and others to expedite legislation looking to the amendment of the Erdman arbitration act so that the present wage controversy between the two organizations and the eastern railroads can be settled without a strike.

"There is nothing pending in the way of arbitration," they said. "The railroad men have put their decision up to the managers, and the managers have turned them down. At this time we are not interested in any legislation."

Washington, July 11.—Secretary of War Garrison will start Wednesday on a tour of inspection of army posts. He intends to visit every garrison except at coast defenses. The purpose is to collect information for his plan to concentrate the army at important centers instead of having it distributed among various posts, many of them remote.

BULGARIA ASKS POWERS TO ACT

Appeals to Europe to Bring About Peace.

REPORT DESPERATE FIGHT

Servian Army Again Attempts to Invade Bulgaria and March on Capital.
Loss of Life Enormous.

London, July 11.—It is officially confirmed here that Bulgaria has taken the initiative of asking the European powers to try to bring the Balkan war to an end.

Bulgaria has placed herself unreservedly in the hands of Russia, with the view of bringing about a cessation of hostilities in the Balkans and in order to prevent further bloodshed, according to an announcement made at St. Petersburg apparently on good authority.

France, it is stated, has undertaken to negotiate with Servia and Greece on behalf of Bulgaria, to ascertain what terms of peace can be arranged. The French government has advised the Greeks and Servians not to demand too much, otherwise Bulgaria is likely to take the chances of fighting out the quarrel.

Another desperate battle, with enormous loss of life on both sides, is raging north of Kotechama between Bulgarians and a Servian army, which attempted to cross the border into Bulgaria, according to a Sofia dispatch. The Servians had a double object: First, to march upon the Bulgarian capital; second, to get behind the Bulgarian lines and cut off the retreat of the two southern divisions to Kutevitsa, the Bulgarian base of operations.

According to official advices from the front the battle is being fought between Kotechama and Egri Palanka, along a small river. It is estimated that about 75,000 men are engaged. The battle lines are stretched out over an area of ten miles. Both sides are supported by artillery. The Servians also have a heavy force of cavalry. Bulgarian reinforcements have been sent over the Sofia-Uskub railway.

The Bulgarian troops continue to retire, closely pursued by the Servian army, according to official reports received at Belgrade. The Bulgarians retreating from Istip had intended to occupy Radovitch, an important town some miles to the east, but the Servian cavalry drove them out of this strategic position.

"The present is the most fateful crisis for the Bulgarian race since King Milan of Serbia declared war in 1885 against Bulgaria in the absence of the Bulgarian army on the Turkish frontier," says the Sofia correspondent of the London Times. "Bulgaria is now threatened by hostile forces on every side, but the manifold dangers of the situation," he says, "are being confronted with extraordinary calmness and resolution."

"Up to Tuesday night Ezeres was not occupied by the Greeks. Communications have been interrupted by the flight of the telegraph operators. King Ferdinand has bestowed an order for bravery upon General Ivanoff for his stout resistance against overwhelming forces."

JACK JOHNSON IN FRANCE

Colored Pugilist Says He Will Never

Have, France, July 11.—Jack Johnson, the colored pugilist, arrived here on board the Corinthian, and immediately on landing announced his determination never to return to the United States. He said he would in the future take up his residence in Paris.

To Ask Bail Forfeiture.

Washington, July 11.—Jack Johnson's announcement that he would never return to the United States caused the department of justice officials immediately to consider steps to bring about the forfeiture of his $10,000 personal bond in Chicago. Johnson is under sentence of a year for white slavery and was bailed pending appeal.

ROOSEVELT REASSURES JAPAN

Colonel Promises to Help Solve Alien Land Controversy.

Tokio, Japan, July 11.—The Ta-Hei-Yo news agency says that Viscount Kentaro Kaneko has received a letter from Theodore Roosevelt, expressing the view that American public opinion will not permit the naturalization of Japanese in the United States, as it would lead to a similar claim on the part of the Chinese.

Mr. Roosevelt, according to the news agency, promised to use his efforts in the solution of the California alien land ownership situation.

In Schenectady, N. Y., a rather unique method is to be tried for ridding the municipality of rats. A scientist has discovered that there is a contagious disease to which rats only are subject. A number of rats are to be captured, inoculated with the virus of this disease and turned loose. It is expected that the disease which is to be spread in this manner will do the rest. The rodents not only levy a heavy tax in the grain food products and other articles which they consume or destroy, but have been proved to be the carriers of several of the most loathsome contagious diseases.

Steel Orders Fall Again.

New York, July 11.—The unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation on June 30 were 5,807,317 tons, a decrease of 517,005 tons from May 31. This leaves the orders on the books at the lowest since May 31, 1912.

MILITANT CONFESSES BURNING MANSION

Fired $100,000 Home as a Beacon For Suffrage.

Liverpool, Eng., July 11.—A dramatic confession of incendiary was made by a well known militant suffragette, Mrs. Edith Rigby, wife of a physician at Preston, to the magistrate sitting in the police court here.

Mrs. Rigby declared it was she who last Tuesday burned down the country residence at Rivington, near Horwich, Lancashire, of Sir William H. Lever, causing damage estimated at $100,000.

She further confessed to being the perpetrator of the outrage at the Liverpool stock exchange on July 5, when a bomb exploded, but caused little damage.

Mrs. Rigby surrendered voluntarily to the police. When arraigned she gloried in her achievements, saying she wanted Sir William H. Lever to consider whether his house was more valuable as a show place than as a beacon lighted for the king and the country to see women suffering an insupportable grievance. She was remanded for a further hearing.

Mrs. Edith Rigby has been a member of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffrage organization, for many years and has taken a great part in public movements to promote the welfare of women. She has been imprisoned five times in connection with the suffrage movement and was on several occasions released owing to the breakdown of her health after hunger strikes.

Miss Clara Elizabeth Givens, who with Kitty Marion was sentenced on July 3 to three years' penal servitude for setting fire to the stands on the Hurst Park race course, was released from prison in a serious condition of health, resulting from a "hunger and thirst strike."

Thaw Wants $30,000 From Estate.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11.—Attorneys for Harry K. Thaw, now confined in Matteawan hospital, New York state, petitioned the orphans' court here to require the Fidelity Title and Trust company, trustee for Thaw under the will of his father, to pay him $30,000. The petition asserts that in the last five years Thaw has not been paid his share of the estate's income, which is asserted to be this amount.

BABY'S HANDS TIED

Mother Tells How Saxo Salve Conquered Eczema.

"Last fall we noticed small rough and red spots coming on baby's hands. The skin was very dry and she kept scratching them until they would bleed. We lost a good deal of sleep with her. Finally we took her to the doctor and he treated her several weeks, but it kept spreading until we had to keep her little hands tied and dress and bandage them several times a day they were so sore, and we used everything we could hear of for eczema. Finally our druggist told us about Saxo Salve. We tried it and one and a half tubes has entirely cured her. Her little hands are smooth and not even scarred, and we are so glad to tell others what Saxo Salve has done for us. Mrs. Mort Stephenson, Lebanon, Ind."

You cannot do better than to try Saxo Salve for eczema, tetter, ringworm, or any skin affection—we cheerfully give back your money if it does not help you. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.

TRAVEL AS AN EDUCATION.

It Depends Not Only on What You See, but How You See It.

Travel is an education, but there may be need of compulsion to make it take. A man who spent much time in a foreign country says that he has learned more about it by reading than he ever did by seeing. In many instances the sole gain of the traveler is recreation. Nothing is carried away but surface impressions. The often noticed contest among tourists over the fundamental questions, "Did you go here?" or "Did you go there?" hints at the sum total of knowledge that was gained. An intelligent reader would pass a better examination even on the superficial aspects of foreign lands than many of the great family of trotters.

This is not to say that the traveler must go about with a mind so serious as to be oppressive, but if he is to benefit much by his journeyings he must be alert and inquisitive and give his memory some exercise. He must have purpose enough to try to add to his stock of valuable knowledge, and he must be able to understand the significance of things and to make intelligent comparisons. Otherwise it makes little difference whether he travels all over Europe or walks around the block where he lives. Mere moving about never educated any one. On the other hand, it is possible to get a very large fund both of pleasure and profit out of good books concerning strange places. —Chicago Record-Herald.

It Was His.

A small boy was telling his mother of a mishap which had occurred to a playmate of his. The youngster, it appeared, had been regaling himself with one of those large, marblelike candies which are a particular delight of childhood, and in a moment of excitement it slipped down and stuck in his throat. But, said the narrator, they succeeded in relieving him.

"Oh," said his mother, "you got it out, did you?"

"Naw," was the impatient answer.

"We shoved it down. It was his, wasn't it?" —Harper's Weekly.

How She Loved Him.

A quarrelsome couple, having exhausted many subjects, came to discussing tombstones, and the husband asked, "My dear, what kind of stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?"

"Brimstone," was the reply. — St. Louis Republic.

Feeding Young Pigs.

When the pigs are large enough to eat from a trough have a low, flat trough for feeding them just a little dry feed or warm milk several times daily. During this time feed the sow liberally—in fact, have her eat all she can of slop food and produce as much milk as she will, for there is no substitute for her milk that will develop the youngster as fast. Keep them thriving every day. If you do not intend to breed the sow for a fall litter let the pigs run with her until she weans them, which will be between two and three months. If you intend to have the sow produce a fall litter let her suckle the pigs until they are eight or ten weeks old. Then remove the sow from the pigs, leaving the pigs in the pen they are accustomed to, and they will not worry as much. —National Stockman.
